Looking at the News With Col. Hugh Clark

The thing is a dead giveaway. If some people had not applied for divorce the public would never have known they were married.

Having been farming for two years Marion Talley no doubt feels she can afford to go back to grand opera for a while.

A gossip writer says that radio performers are invariably conceited. How could it be otherwise when they can't hear you say: "Turn off that blamed thing."

Those dethroned emperors and exiled princes and archdukes have lost many privileges, but have gained one: They can marry without fear that the marriage will be declared morganatic.

Communists who demand greater freedom of expression should be given it. We often wonder what they've left to say one-half so senseless as the things they've said.

In New Brunswick "fridgity" is quoted as one of the grounds upon which divorce may be granted. The Bluese is not without redress if his wife gives him the cold shoulder or the icy stare.

Things are getting worse over in the United States. One poor fellow has had to hypothecate a souvenir dime he got from John D. Rockefeller Sr.

A critic points out instances in which Lincoln used split infinitives. His experience with rails would be helpful to him.

Bernard Shaw gives his blessing to the Soviets and asks the world to follow their example. Shaw ought to know all about it. He was in Russia nearly a week when he declared it good.

He would have had more fun and excitement while there if he had praised Britain and cursed Russia. And the fact that he didn't do so shows that he is not the Shaw he used to be.

Wedding at Calgary Of Local Interest

On Wednesday evening of July 29th a quiet wedding was officiated by Reverend Rex Brown of Roberta M. Willett and Mack W. Lyle in the presence of two friends, Miss Zela Colwell and Mr. Roland Cox. The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Willett, 1409-4 St. N.W., is a well known Calgary girl, having graduated from Crescent Heights High School and being connected for some time with a local company as bookkeeper. The groom is also well known in Calgary, being president of Lyle Brothers Limited. Mr. Lyle before starting business in Calgary in 1929 resided at Arrowwood, Alberta with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lyle. He is a well known in that district, having been councillor for the Municipality of Dinton and also was chairman of the Arrowwood Consolidated School Board before coming to Calgary.

The wedding was quiet and unannounced and their friends only learned of the fact recently which resulted in a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mack W. Lyle at 919-4 St. N.E., last Thursday evening.

The party was officially opened by the groom's sister, Mrs. R. B. Jones, who had brought a cat in a bag and let the cat out of the bag which typified that the secret of the bride and groom was no more theirs and that friends had come to give them a house warming.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle were presented with the following gifts from the guests: a silver tea service, silver butter dish and silver cream and sugar set.

Entertainment was furnished by several quartet numbers and piano recitations rendered by Ian Smith, James Richardson, E. B. Lyle and K. L. Lyle.

Weekly Letter From Local Health Unit

We frequently hear that vaccination against smallpox is no longer necessary. That, of course is far from the truth. Smallpox may be here at any time; as it is in some parts of the world at present, a very serious problem. Mild epidemics are occurring regularly in Alberta. One occurred last year just a few miles from this district. It is only a few years since the Ontario epidemics in which over half of the cases died. We are repeatedly warned by Public Health statisticians that a serious epidemic will occur in this country if the rising generation is not vaccinated. If you neglect vaccination you are evading a responsibility to your children and your neighbors.

The best time to have the child vaccinated is in the first year—preferably about six months. At that time there is no appreciable reaction. The older the individual the more reaction there is to the vaccination. The child should be vaccinated early in school life and whenever exposed to the disease. In this way a life-long protection is assured with no harmful effects.

Your doctor has reduced the cost of vaccination to almost nothing in order to stamp out smallpox. The Okotoks-High River Health District will vaccinate you or your child at any regular clinic or school examination.

NEXT PAIR OF PANTS

When depression hit the world in the fall of 1929, people were philosophical and it was a current remark, that after all mostly everyone had a second pair of pants and could get along.

Now, after almost two years, the second pair of pants is pretty well worn out, but the prospect of renewing the wardrobe is not so good. It looks as though patches would be the fashion note for the season, and patches do not make brisk business.

The town of Okotoks has investigated its unemployment prospects and finds that it has sixty men and girls who need to be working, and are without work, or have only odd jobs. This is a large number for any small town, but if a similar investigation were made through the country, there is little doubt that very much the same scale of figures would be shown. It is unlikely that many municipalities have made intensive effort to learn the names and qualifications of those within their boundaries who need and desire work.

Naturally no municipality is anxious to burden itself unduly. It considers primarily those who would be a relief charge if work were not provided, and all efforts are directed to securing work for these few. In addition to these, are many who have made no application, but are subsisting as best they can on a little reserve, reluctant to be placed in the humiliating category of "relief cases." Also there are in many homes, unemployed who are living at home, but who need and want work for the maintenance of morale. On the farms are many who could be released for outside labor but who have retreated from other over-filled occupations to the old home. Have all these been fully checked? Taking our population over cities, towns and country there are thousands of unemployed bookkeepers, salesmen, teachers, nurses, carpenters, clerks, mechanics of all sorts, experienced farmers and their sons, surely an army of immense possibilities, necessary to the country if it is to maintain its vitality. Such a variety and quality of labor would normally be the very bedrock of any new country. But have adequate efforts been made to utilize these people at their highest state of efficiency. Is there yet produced a scheme comprehensive enough, to make suitable use—or any use—of this valuable social and economic material.

Great honor is due the masses of Canadians who have endured with courage and hope, the hard fortunes of the past eighteen months. They have set an admirable example. The small merchant, the small manufacturer, the farmer, those who have hung to their jobs on reduced wages, those who have been thrown out of employment, still remaining self-respecting and honest. These people have shown stamina and fortitude and honor, calling for greatest admiration. Can the same high praise be accorded to all those who hold the money resources of the country. Have they, out of their abundance, shown the same meticulous honesty and the desire to further their general well-being.

Our social structure is such that it is quite in order for a government to require the lives of its people in war, to require that a man though starving should take not so much as a loaf of bread that is not his, to punish a man for attempting to remove himself from the world when the world offers him no livelihood. But it is not in order for the government to commandeer any large proportion of private wealth in order that economic conditions may be improved for millions of lesser people.

It would require a great amount of courage on the part of any government to take such a drastic step, because money has attained a sacred status far above human life or human welfare. But before present economic conditions are righted the world over, this step may become necessary, not only in Canada, but in other countries. Society is beginning to feel that it is entitled to work, and to pay. It is faced with the need of at least one pair of pants.

WANTING THE NEWS

The best friend a newspaper has is the subscriber who drops in with a little news. While it is the function of the newspaper to gather the news of the neighborhood, there is much naturally that escapes. There is much that happens which is perhaps known only to a few, but would be of very general interest not only to local people but to outside readers. Records of good crop yields, of prize-taking livestock, of any outstanding effort, of new buildings, or land deals, of picnics and parties and celebrations all are news which reflect the activities of the district. Visitors in the neighborhood, make interesting reading for many, yet it is impossible for an office to gather in all these "items" without co-operation from well-wishers. One frequently hears the protest: "It seems silly to give information about oneself." On the contrary, it is one means of furthering pleasant neighborhood news and filling out the weekly picture of what is happening in the district. Any piece of news which has to do with contemporary movement is valuable as a record, not only for today, but for later years.

For this reason we consider it the greatest favor, when anyone informs us of these passing events, and if you have a guest or a party, or a smart young pullet or a fine field of wheat, it would be appreciated if you would inform your local paper. The as a number of live news gatherers in different parts of the district, and these little items of activities at various country points, are read with great interest, and have been very favorably commented on.

It is not possible for any newspaper to suit every taste. Some like certain features, some like others. But the more news of a neighborhood which a paper contains, the more nearly does it perform its real function. We would ask the co-operation of friends in the district.

IS IT JUST?

The ruling by which the actual grower of wheat is the one to benefit by the five cent bonus, is regarded by many as the result of hurried legislation. In many cases of owner versus tenant, it is the owner who has financed his tenant through all the farm operations, under some circumstances at a loss to himself. He also is in need of any bonus which may be given, but apparently no matter what is arrangements with his tenant, the tenant alone is entitled to the bonus.

ALL GOD'S CHILDREN

A homely truth is often conveyed through the correspondence columns of the paper, and the other evening a letter written by "Al-Shepherd" in the Calgary Herald, brought out a condition that has a real bearing on the consideration due the masses of the people in Canada and elsewhere.

The Shepherd takes his from his own experience:

"I am a shepherd for the governor over a large flock of sheep. When a ewe has twins, the first born is liable to get all the attention. My duty is to see that the second born gets a chance. Often the governor has to hand out relief in form of a bottle of cow's milk. The second lamb would have a very poor chance of thriving if the governor neglected his duty and did not make it his duty and did not make its mother give it its share by the law of force. If I neglect the second lamb and maybe give it only an occasional handout from the bottle, it would grow up pathetically weak and be forced to steal, to be bunted around from one sheep to another, from one city to the other. How pathetic it is to young Canadians of today to be bunted around in the same hopeless way, with nothing in sight but a lean, hopeless existence. It is sometimes necessary for the governor to hold a big fat lamb by the law of force in order to give his weaker brother a chance to get his share and grow strong enough to get on his legs and get his own living. So the government could hold down the fat income for a while till employment got on its feet."

In order to curb the big fat fellows, and give the lesser ones of the herd, a chance, the Shepherd suggests that a minimum wage of $700 a year is a fair stipulation. He says: "Let everybody have a chance to enjoy the gifts and ease that God is trying to give them instead of a few greedy ones grabbing everything. Let the government make working hours, wages, incomes and expenses applicable to meet the needs of everybody's capabilities and position which would bring in the maximum and minimum wage proposition, the surplus earnings to be used for national and public expenditure."

LADY ASTOR SEES RUSSIA AT HOME

It might be a good thing for our politicians and publicists who have so righteously against Russia to go to that country and look into things for themselves. If they had the slightest measure of intelligence and a modicum of honor, the chances are that they would change their tune.

We say this on the strength of the evidence. Hardly any man of importance and open mind has gone to Russia and not come back with different views to those he went with. At this moment, George Bernard Shaw and Lady Astor are returning from Russia. We need not discuss Mr. Shaw. But what of Lady Astor?

This charming and gifted lady is a Conservative, is wealthy and is by breeding and temperament opposed to radicalism. But what does she say when emerging from Russia? According to the Associated Press, she says the following:

Soviet Russia is the best run country in the world; I am enchanted with it.

This does not mean that Lady Astor has swallowed the extremes and frequently idiotic doctrines of the Bolsheviks. It simply means that she has been honest with herself and has admitted the truth as she sees it.

Mankind, of course, has a marvellous capacity to believe what it wants to believe. There are large numbers in Canada who believe that Russia is a living nightmare of horror and wickedness. Some of these refuse to believe anything else. They do not want to. Moreover, they accuse persons who speak tolerantly of Russia of being either paid for lying or being Communists. Nevertheless, until Russia is approached from a more civilized point of view, there can be small hope of reconciliation and progress in the world of bitter nationalism and economic strife.—Ottawa Citizen.

LIVESTOCK AT FAIRS

The strongest impression left on those who have attended fairs in Southern Alberta this year, is that there is a much greater production of livestock than in former years, on the old wheat-growing farms. The general report is that livestock exhibits in various classes have been well in excess of previous years and of a high standard of quality. This is a sign that the policy of diversified farming is being pursued and being pursued intelligently.

At the Lethbridge fair it was observed in the community exhibits that several departments of farm activities are being revived, which have fallen into disuse of late years. These included exhibits of home cured ham, of great varieties of home-made cheeses and of home-grown fruits. This indicates the conservation and use of farm products on a more thorough scale than formerly, and it further indicates that old recipes are being dug out, and put to use, and that the arts of former days, are still in capable hands.

Locally, although we have no agricultural fair to assemble the products of the district, it is known that many farms are developing good herds, and a high quality of swine, sheep and poultry. It is known also that the high art of butter-making, which received scant attention several years ago, is once again being taken seriously.

The farmers and the farmers' wives are determined not to be beaten. They are reckoning on their every acre, their every pound of milk, their every feather in the poultry yard. They refuse to be beaten.

LIKES OUR CATTLE

A message received by Capt. W. Waldron, market commissioner for Saskatchewan, from the Co-operative Whole Society, Ltd., Manchester, says:

"The last shipment of cattle received, was about the best ever received from Canada and has done more good in two days than a whole year of poster broadcasting could ever do, the quality being far superior to the Irish and equal to any Scotch. The prices realized on the selected of this shipment were equal to our selected Norfolk cattle. If Canada continues to produce and ship to England this quality, she need have no doubt as to satisfactory prices. Even on low value markets they would command the highest prices available."

In confirmation of this excellent report, the Lethbridge Herald states that a recent shipment of 120 head of Southern Alberta Red Label baby beef, brought top price on the Glasgow market, bringing a clean profit of $500 per car, over and above the Canadian market. The report on this consignment is "It seems that the exporters of these Canadian cattle have nothing to learn if this lot is a sample of what Canada can ship. The coarse-boned and leggy features formerly characteristic of Canadian cattle were not in evidence."

To the forefront of this movement of cattle to Britain is the Council of Western Beef producers, and the Canadian Co-operative Livestock Producers. The trial shipment which paved the way so successfully included stock from numbers of our local ranches.

There is no reason why the cattle cannot be forthcoming, and the men who know how to feed. It is said that there are now four more ocean boats on the Canadian line in regular shipments as the country has the stock, the service with space available for 1000 head per week.

5 REASONS WHY

Alberta POOL Elevators
are worthy of support

- 1 The greater the volume handled by Pool elevators the less the cost of handling.
- 2 Pool elevators are not operated for profit. They are operated to give the farmers the best possible service.
- 3 Pool elevators assure patrons safety on grades and weights. Close adherence to a strict policy of fair treatment of patrons in respect to grades, weights and dockage is insisted upon by the management, acting under instructions from the delegates.
- 4 The history of grain handling and selling since the time when the prairies were first farmed, up to the present, clearly shows the real importance to producers of maintaining an efficient and complete elevator system under their control. This gives producers a power and influence which they otherwise would not have, were they dependent only on facilities owned and operated on a profit-making basis.
- 5 The uneven crop in Alberta, with indications of a reduced aggregate yield from former years only increases the urgent need of seeing that the support of pool elevators, so enthusiastically given in past years, is maintained during the coming crop year to an even greater extent.

35 CENT ADVANCE GOVT GUARANTEE

Bennett Announces Policy for Orderly Marketing, 35 Cent Initial Payment

The Prime Minister announced a wheat policy arrived at as a result of conferences with the provincial governments, the Wheat Pools and the banks. The statement is:

"As a substantial number of producers desire to market their grain on the pool principle, the elevators operated by the pools in the several provinces will afford to such producers an opportunity to have their grain dealt with by the operation of a voluntary pool. The elevators will make to such producers an initial payment of 35 cents per bushel on the same basis as to quality and point of delivery as in previous years.

The wheat pools of the three western provinces, which own nearly 1,000 elevators, as well as terminals at Vancouver and Fort William, will operate this year in the same way as privately owned enterprises. They will have ample working capital, and the provinces will not be called up to guarantee their operations.

"The Dominion government will take whatever action may be necessary to insure the orderly marketing of the crop of the year. Panic conditions will not be permitted to control the prices obtaining for this year's western grain."

POT POURRI FOR WOMEN FOLK

What the World is Predicting and Announcing, of Interest to Women

Women generally do the most competent gold digging of their lives somewhere round the age of eight—Elsie McCormick.

The fashion world runs in cycles and embroidered frocks in linen and cotton are greatly in vogue. Eyelet embroidery is once again very popular.

The Hollywood style experts predict that the old leg-o'-mutton sleeve is just over the hilltop and coming fast. With it must go the pinched-in waist and accentuated hips. All right for some folks. False curls and what nots to carry out the ancient fashions are already being sold in the shops.

They say that that elegant lift at the back known as the bustle is also threatening for 1932. And the Calgary Herald male fashion critic contributes: "Is this present depression going to end in a hump?"

Carrie Jacobs Bond the composer of "The End of a Perfect Day," who ceased to write songs after the loss of her son two years ago, states that she hopes to take up her composing again.

Mary Robert Rinehart issues this dictum on clothes: "When the on-looker cannot see the woman for her clothes, she is badly dressed. No one ever turns to look at the thoroughly dressed woman. Never let your dress subordinate you. You are not a rack on which to hang your garments. You are yourself. Some women look as if they said to their garments: 'Clothes, I'm going down town if you want to come along, just hang on.'"

Malnutrition is often the result of too little sleep and while there is no absolute rule for the amount of sleep which children need, the following hours (with open windows) are necessary. From five to six years, bed time should come at 6:30 with 13 hours sleep; from 6 to 8, bedtime at 7:30 with 12 hours sleep; from 8 to 10 bedtime at 8 and 11½ hours sleep; from 10 to 12, bedtime at 8:30 with 11 hours sleep; from 12 to 14 bedtime at 9 o'clock with 10½ hours sleep; from 14 to 16, bedtime at 9:30 with 10 hours sleep. Few children in the West seem to achieve this perfect schedule, but they need it and those who are not strong or not gaining regularly need extra hours of rest, if not of sleep. Rest, fresh air, play, milk, fruits and green vegetables make children strong.

Some vegetables normally require a longer season than is the rule in Alberta, but certain treatment speeds maturity. Staking tomatoes helps maturity. The main stem of the plant, when the fruits are well set should be nipped back. This applied also to the main stems of cucumbers, melons and pumpkins. It helps in developing and ripening the fruit, with possibly a smaller crop but better individual results. The use of mulch paper is also advocated for tomatoes and hot weather plants, with the plants set in holes made in the covering.

Two bear cubs were flown from Northern Alaska to Edmonton, and kept quite calm.

Infantile paralysis is losing ground in struggle with science. There has been considerable recent advance in the study of serum possibilities.

And there has been so much rain in Northern Alberta, that unless they get a little sunshine, the outlook is serious.

Out of a total of 7000 applications from veterans during the past year, over 3000 veterans over 60 years of age suffering permanent disability are receiving allowance.

A "goodwill" ship is sailing from Australia loaded with commodities suitable for Canadian trade. On the return trip it will bear Canadian goods. This is in line with the stimulation of Australian-Canadian trade.

PRECAUTIONS RE GRASSHOPPERS

Farmers Should Take Precautions Against Grasshopper Pest

In certain local districts as well as elsewhere, grasshoppers are appearing in sufficient numbers to give warning for the safety of the 1932 crop. Farmers who are receiving visitations, would do well to guard against any plague next year, both for their own sakes and that of others.

There are two kinds of grasshoppers appearing, the roadside grasshopper which gave trouble from 1919 to 1924, and the lesser migratory grasshopper which has been even more destructive at times.

The roadside grasshopper deposits its eggs in grasslands and at the base of clumps of grass. The lesser grasshopper lays its eggs in open spots and also in stubble and deserted farms. About every eleven years these natives of Canada increase to dangerous proportions, with one female laying 150 eggs.

Grass hopper eggs may be destroyed in the autumn by burying deeply, or by exposing them to the atmospheric conditions of winter. Newly hatched hoppers cannot make their way through five or six inches of packed soil, but can get through loose soil. Ploughing should be at least five inches deep, and the ploughing must be done so the sod falls flat because merely upending the sod, gives the newly hatched hoppers a chance to come out.

The longer grasshopper eggs are exposed to the atmosphere, the greater their destruction. Early in September egg-laying has ceased and the ground should be cultivated as soon as possible after this. The eggs are laid in a pod or sac very near the surface of the soil, so shallow disking would expose many of these to the winter atmosphere and cause them to perish. On the road-sides a heavy harrow might turn up the eggs and destroy them to an extent.

Fighting grasshoppers is a community undertaking in which all are concerned.

Poisoned bait can kill them readily at all times. A good mixture is 1 lb. paris green, 25 lbs. bran or half sawdust half bran, half pound salt, 2 gallons water. The first three ingredients should be mixed dry, the water added later. The bait should be scattered finely when the sun is shining as between 68 and 90 degrees. This is the time when appetites are keenest, ensuring a maximum kill. The nearest entomological station will give all information.

Savages are stupid people who have no legal way of robbing one another.—Galt Reporter.

HERRONTON HAPPENINGS

The first load of 1931 wheat was delivered to U.G.G. last Saturday, by Mr. Gingrass.

The Alberta Pool elevator at Spring Coulee, was mysteriously destroyed last Thursday.

Next Friday evening, August 21st by kind permission of Mr. William Swartz (by the way, Bill is a great booster for the town, and the inactivity of the club has worried him greatly) the walls of his barn will reverberate to snappy music and shouts of an old time barn dance. You will remember the last dance held there. Let's make this a bigger and better one than ever before. Time is too short to be blue. Forget worries and cares; help yourself to happiness next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. We need you there. Admission $1.00 per couple, extra lady 25c; supper free.

Each day and in every way, Herronton is getting better and better. There is no need to issue a proclamation for a Clean-up Week. During the past few days a number have cleaned up around their elevators, stores and houses. New sidewalks have been laid; the Regal and Co-op, Lumber Yards have painted the stones around their premises blue and white; also the Red and White store in the color of its organization. We hope to make this Clean-up one hundred per cent for we are proud of the title given us by the Lethbridge Herald "As clean as a new pin."

LOOKING AT THE NEWS

Hon. C. J. Doherty had a keen legal mind and a large experience in public speaking, yet he lacked the faculty of expressing himself clearly. There was a dark outlook for anything he undertook to make clear. His sentences were involved and complex. It is difficult for one to explain something that one does not understand. Mr. Doherty did understand, but couldn't explain. At a press gallery dinner, where he was a guest, the boys had printed a mock "Parliamentary Companion," giving burlesque lives of public men. They made fun of his genius for obfuscation, but he went them one better. In a very witty speech of ten minutes, he made still greater fun over his attitude toward "indeterminate sentences," and, for once, they understood him perfectly. It was said of him that he used to block his own bills and estimates in their passage through the House, but when he started his critics desisted. They hesitated to ask questions lest he should take up further time in explanations that did not explain and dissertations that but confused. He did not do it purposely to confuse. He thought he was explaining. But no one questioned his legal knowledge, his judicial fairness or his personal probity.

Discussing inequalities in the administration of justice, Lt.-Col. Jas. Arthurs, M.P. for Parry Sound, told parliament of a case in his riding where a man who smashed some windows was given a sentence of 42 years in the penitentiary. Talk about panes and penalties!
